This half-tone reproduction of "Autumn Riches" only partially conveys the beauty and design of the lithographed plaques

The four (containing no Season Plaques advertising) and the Calendar Plaque make beautiful and artistic decorations.

The Anheuser-Busch Art Plaques

With Calendar Plaque for 1904.

AT GREAT expense, Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n has secured from the brush of the celebrated color artist, A. Von Beust, a series of magnificent oil paintings, representing the artist's conception of the four seasons. These are reproduced with splendid fidelity as to detail and coloring, in the form of four plaques, "Spring Breezes," "Summer Flowers," "Autumn Riches," "Winter Winds," and an additional plaque containing the twelve monthly calendars for 1904. The five plaques are each 12 inches in diameter, lithographed in the highest style of art, fourteen printings on finest ivory china-finished cardboard, with rims.

The five plaques will be mailed to any address on re-St. Louis, U. S. money or stamps sent to the Malt-Nutrine Department, Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n., ceipt of 25c in A.

A food in liquid form easily assimilated by the weakest stomach. Invaluable to nursing mothers and feeble children, gives appetite, health and vigor to the weak and ailing. Sold by druggists and grocers.
