HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Bedroom sets comprising water pitcher, candlestick, covered match safe and tumbler of good china appropriately decorated with a tray to match can be had for $7 or $8, says the New York Sun. Sets of finer ware cost from $12 up. They are snug, of convenient size and very suggestive of comfort.

Old-fashioned but very lively looking figures in night cap and dressing gown are portrayed on some of them. Others of costlier pattern have for decoration conical silhouettes struck off in very dary colors or in black, on a delicately tinted ground, the silhouette framed about with a tracery of black and gold interspersed with spangles.

Where flowers form the decoration they are of the hardy varieties, honeysuckles, daisies and hollyhocks rather than the blossoms cultivated in hot-houses and well-trained gardens. An uncommonly pretty bedroom set has for ornament the likeness of a court beauty with elaborately dressed hair, bejeweled arms and fingers and full-flounced skirts, from which a delicately pointed slipper toe peeps out. The ground-work of the set is ivory tinted and the medallion-like picture is entwined with dark blue spangles.

The facilities for china making have so advanced of late that the toilet set costing $17 or $18 to-day is better modeled and far more tastefully decorated than any that cost $30 some years ago. The newest sets have tall, straight pitchers, narrowing toward the top and set off with poster figures and quaint border work. The design is reproduced on the wide-rimmed basin and every smallest stand as accessory.
